

The IAM is Not Pro-Delta

Some IAM supporters continue to suggest that the IAM is “pro-Delta” but their track record proves otherwise.

Here are a few examples:

THE IAM opposed the merger

THE IAM sued to stop seniority integration

THE IAM lobbied in Washington against the interests of Delta people in connection with the Ex-Im Bank

THE IAM was rejected by all 5 Delta workgroups it tried to organize (including those previously represented by the IAM)

THE IAM filed for an election in January 2015 only to subsequently withdraw in April 2015 due to “questionable cards” and still has yet to explain what happened

BOTTOM LINE: The IAM and Delta don't fit.

Get The Facts.

DON'T RISK IT.
DON'T SIGN IT.

 Be Delta. Be Different.
